What is the Planet Nibiru

Pleiadian Federation Flagship, Nibiru

Information from the: Nibiruancouncil.com by Jalaila Starr, and the Star Traveler's personal visit experiences on Nibiru

What is Nibiru?

Nibiru is the 4th dimensional flagship of the Milky Way Galaxy's Galactic Federation. Many different civilizations have representatives that live aboard Nibiru. As well as being a Federation Flagship, Nibiru is also a planet and a battle star. Nibiru is a little over three times the size of Earth. This is a learning and a teaching planet where various races become accustomed to working together in peace and unity without having fighting or wars amongst each other. Everything is shared equally on the planet in fairness and species work as groups together in benevolent familial communities and clans.

Nibiru was originally a planet that was thrown out of orbit with the implosion/explosion of Sirius B. It wound up in the Pleiades and therefore is known to some as a Pleiadian planet.

Nibiru became a star ship when it was converted from a near lifeless form, hollowed out and turned into a ship. You could liken it in some ways to the space station on the TV show called Deep Space Nine or a Dyson Sphere Planetoid. The only difference is that Nibiru travels the galaxy, it has crystalline world engines that power it. That is why the people live inside of it instead of on the surface. Another reason is that it was created for deep space travel where there would be no sun for many years. In a way, you could say that it is an artificial planet. Only the shell is original.

Nibiru is a battle star because it was outfitted for war with ships and heavy weapons. When negotiations fail Nibiru is capable of waging war to defend itself against attack. It also uses these same weapons to defend planets and races against attack when authorized to do so.

What color is Nibiru?

Nibiru is a red planet with a gold hue. As a result, it appears as a bright yellow-gold star when seen from Earth. Nibiru's brightness is due in part to the gold dust suspended in its atmosphere. This gold dust is used to maintain the atmosphere of Nibiru and fill the holes in its atmosphere that were caused by atomic missiles fired at it during the last Great Galactic War in which it was involved and seriously crippled. The gold repels radiation from space and keeps the people inside the ship from dying.

By the way, this was the same war in which Maldek was destroyed by Nibiru after the opposing forces had destroyed the colonies on Mars, Venus and Earth. The biosphere of Mars and Venus were also destroyed along with their colonies leaving both planets a wasteland. In ancient times Nibiru was symbolized as the eight-pointed star mostly due to its brightness. The Egyptians called it "the bright star of the crossing."

Does Nibiru have rings?

Yes, it is our understanding that Nibiru has rings much like those of Saturn. It uses them as a sort of propulsion system. They propel Nibiru through space. The rings move in opposite directions from each other and up and down like wings, but the wings move in opposite directions.

Why do some people call Nibiru a red comet?

We believe this is due to the fact that Nibiru has an orbit and for a time was restricted to that orbit when it was overtaken in 2000 BC. Other than that, Nibiru appears to be in an orbit because it circles the galaxy. But it can break from its normal rotation whenever it is needed for a particular assignment that would take it out of that orbit. Once again, we must look at the historical orientation of the people making this claim. It can very well come from a time when their ancestors knew Nibiru to be in a stationary orbit just like the other planets of our solar system. They are accurate in their claim but only as it pertains to that specific timeframe. It does not apply in general.

Is Nibiru a brown dwarf?

Many scientists are speculating that Nibiru is a dark star or a “brown dwarf.” A brown dwarf is a star that never accumulated enough mass to ignite. Nibiru may be classified as a brown dwarf because it was either a planet or a star before it was expelled from the Sirius star system with the implosion or explosion of Sirius B. Since we are not sure which one it was, we have no problem with scientists labeling it a brown dwarf. They can only work with what they know at the present time. Time will tell which one it is.

As Nibiru comes closer, it will create a heyday of confusion and radical theories as scientists and mankind in general grapple with the mystery of Nibiru. It will be just one more way in which Nibiru will play a role in mankind’s awakening to all there is.

Who lives on Nibiru?

There are many races and civilizations represented in the population aboard Nibiru. Some are more predominant than others. Some are hominoid, some reptilian, some insectilian, some android, etc. Some are even like hairy apes. There are literally hundreds of races and hybrid varieties represented in the population of Nibiru. There are many civilizations from the Sirius Star system living on Nibiru, the Sirians have amazing teaching and learning labs for ascension as well as spiritual growth. Once again we reference Deep Space Nine and also Star Trek for what it is like to visit Nibiru as examples.

Who lives on Nibiru Contd.?

Each group of beings have living areas that simulate their natural environment. For example the dolphin representatives live in an aquatic environment while the reptilians live in a hot and humid environment. The humans live in an environment much like ours on Earth. The octopus like beings live in tanks made especially for them and so on. Since Nibiru is almost 4 times the size of Earth, there is plenty of room to move. Some groups have developed into entire civilizations as a result and don't return to their home worlds as often as the others.

And just like in your country, there are factions within these races with differing agendas. Some work for the betterment of all and some do not. One faction may be in conflict a particular race and others of that race are not. They have disagreements and prejudices, positive qualities and not so desirable qualities just like us.

Do these different races have family members (channels) on earth and are those channels sharing information with us?

Yes, yes, yes!!! This is where a lot of the confusion comes from. For example, there are a few channels that are receiving information that Nibiru wants to take over Earth and enslave humans. In that case, one must ask, "Which individual group channeling from the starship Nibiru wants to do this?" It does not mean everyone on Nibiru wants to do it. It is like saying for example that the Ku Klux Klan represents all of the white people on Earth and therefore all the whites want to destroy the Blacks, Asians, Native Americans and every other culture and race of which the KKK does not approve. Do you see what we mean?

These channels are getting information from their individual groups aboard Nibiru. It does not mean that one group's beliefs and agendas represent all of the population of Nibiru just like the Nazis' views and agendas don't represent those of the entire Aryan population of Earth.

Yes, there are small groups aboard Nibiru that want to take over Earth and they are mostly, but not all reptilian, but they in no way represent the majority of people on Nibiru nor Nibiru's Prime directive for Earth. There are also small groups of people here on Earth that want to take over Earth. We reference the James Bond movies, but does that mean that they represent all of our views?

If we can stop thinking of other planets and civilizations as all good or all bad and with only one agenda or belief system, then we will end a lot of the fear that is generated because of this all or nothing way of thinking. And let's keep these channeled agendas in perspective. It is not that they are incorrect, it is that they represent the agendas and beliefs of only a certain group. So if a group is saying that there is a whole planet wanting to take over Earth, it is best to ask who on that planet is wanting that takeover instead of just assuming it means everyone.

What is Nibiru's purpose?

Nibiru has many purposes. We will outline a few of them:

1. Peace keeper - Nibiru's main overall purpose is that of a galactic peace keeper. As a peace keeper Nibiru's duties are many. One of the most important duties is to move around the galaxy and negotiate treaties and alliances among the many evolving and advanced races. This includes negotiating peace between warring races.
2. Genetic Upgrading - Negotiating peace sometimes involves using the laboratories aboard Nibiru to create new hybrid races. These new races and the genetic upgrades involved, in some cases provided the means to end wars since many wars were started over genetics. Just like children need to learn to share so do evolving races.

In races that are ready to be introduced into the galactic community, genetic upgrading is facilitated through processes being sent to the planet. That is why there are many people who are writing books on DNA Recoding, providing various processes and also facilitating workshops to provide training and support. The Beings who send the information will in most cases be GF members and also have star seed children on Earth that they are attempting to assist.

This also explains why there are many different techniques being given for DNA Recoding. Each race has a particular genetic makeup and recoding their DNA may require certain processes that are not needed by other races. But in all cases some things are the same. Emotional clearing is the key to DNA Recoding and that holds true for every race represented on Earth.

3. The Galactic Federation's Mission Control Planetary Ascension Programs. - Though the main operations of any planetary ascension plan are located at the GF headquarters in the Sirius star system, having an orbiting satellite office makes carrying out the many tasks involved much easier and efficient. Since Nibiru's orbit traverses our galaxy and is the GF's key flag ship, it is the perfect location for organizing and carrying out ascension programs for planets and civilizations connected to the GF. Since most of the planets in our galaxy are seeded by Federation member races that may or may not be in close proximity to the planet, having a starship available to carry out critical tasks such as genetic upgrading is vital to success. Sometimes there are elements of the negative side within a council(s) when there are various species representatives as council members but that is not who the Galactic Federation is as a whole, there is light and balance within positive learning and organic evolution. If there are negative factions who try to represent the GF they are policed and apprehended to be dealt with accordingly as to the nature of their infractions.

Earth's ascension program is being coordinated through Nibiru with each star seed race having representation on and in the many councils of Nibiru. With the council's working together to complete our ascension plan, we are in good hands and can rest assured that every measure is being taken to protect and ensure our success and eventual entry in the galactic neighborhood.

What is Nibiru's purpose Contd.?

4. The Mission Control center for Star seeds and Walk-ins. - Among the many responsibilities of Nibiru is that of training, support and guidance for Walk-ins and Star seeds. For Walk-ins, Nibiru provides mission plans, and assigns support staff to watch over and protect the soul being sent to Earth. For star seeds, they are given guidance on which templates are to be created to assist their home worlds in their spiritual evolution to the next step.

There is much more to this but suffice it to say that the beautiful settings with moving sidewalks, the slender Grecian-like columns and the singing, telepathic dolphins (some of which walk upright) is the setting on Nibiru where the walk-ins and star seeds are trained. Many report being in classrooms during the dream state. Though this is common among Grey and Zeta abductees and the ships are different, Nibiru also has classrooms. The difference we have come to understand is most often the setting. This is a very serene setting with music, and other worldly colors. Very peaceful. When we go there in the dream state, we sometimes don't want to come back.

Who is in control of Nibiru?

Nibiru receives its orders from the central command of the Galactic Federation's Greater Nibiruan Council. The Greater Nibiruan Council, as we have discussed before, was established to handle the management duties and responsibilities of the GF. This includes giving assignments to various Federation starships of which Nibiru, though the GF's Flagship, is only one. This means that whenever Nibiru is sent on assignment to a planet or star system, it was sent there by order of the GF.

Nibiru is in essence a field office just like Deep Space Nine was a field office of the Galactic Federation in the TV show.

What role does Nibiru play in our ascension?

Nibiru remains our trigger for awakening. Once it gets close enough to us, uncloaks and shows itself, it will bring about a universal shift in consciousness. Mankind will then wake up to the fact that they are not alone in the universe and will begin to search for the reason and purpose behind this great planet/ship. It is then that the ancient knowledge suppressed by the religions and governments of Earth in order to control the people, will come to light. Mankind's true identity will be made known to them and they will have the opportunity to embrace it on a global scale.

Nibiru's effects are already being felt. Due to its massive size, Nibiru is already affecting our weather, our planetary frequency and our sun.

Nibiru is affecting our sun. Because of the pressure being exerted by its mass moving closer to us, it is creating pressure on the sun. This pressure is like squeezing a tomato until it begins to rupture. These ruptures are the solar flares and emissions from the sun. The sun is changing and emitting more light. Much like going from a 75 watt bulb to a 150 watt bulb. This changes our DNA and activates the dormant codes within it to begin the transmutation of our bodies from carbon-based to crystalline-based life forms. Though uncomfortable, this transmutation is necessary to move into a higher dimension i.e., 5D.

Sirian Crystal Lab

This is the crystal lab where the Star Traveler learned about sacred geometry and crystal healing during 2014 while she was on the traveling planet Nibiru. The visit to the crystal lab was part of the Star Traveler's learning process for awakening. This was a part of her education process by participating in the ascension program to start doing self healing as a star seed.

The Star Traveler spent about a year coming to Nibiru off and on for her studies. This would happen during the sleeping state at night when the Star Traveler would astral project herself to the moving planet.

Nibiru has the most learning labs where star seeds can go in order to learn ascension type work like for example healing, telepathy, metaphysics, quantum physics, or quantum mechanics. There are many different classrooms for teaching and learning on Nibiru.

Second Floor Crystal Lab

On the second floor of the crystal lab the Star Traveler learned how the crystals have different vibrational frequencies and that they resonate on higher and lower energetic pulse waves.

The crystals can be utilized as power generators as they produce almost unlimited amounts of energies.

These crystalline generators are being tested out to see how they will heal people on large scales as groups.

By touching the crystal generators the star seeds are able to amplify their telepathic abilities, and grow in their psychic levels on their ascension journey through organic evolutionary stages of the 5th dimensional development.

Med bay in Sirian Habitat

There are crystal generators in the med bays in order to speed up healing if it is needed otherwise all healing is done organically.

The mid sized med bays have four meditech's each in order to heal painful injuries, or if there is some kind of a medical emergency the meditech healing chairs are at hand when needed.

Much of the Sirian rapid healing technology looks similar to what the Andromeda Council uses on their biosphere ships for the crystalline generators and meditechs.

There are often organic plants being grown in the med bays to bring in an atmosphere of peace and tranquility so people feel comfortable in the environment that they are in.

Bioenergy Research Lab

This is a bioenergy research lab which is adjacent to one of the med bay's.

The bioenergy lab measures different vibrational and evolutionary frequencies of the higher dimensional species to see how they are evolving.

Some species evolve quicker and some slower depending on their genetic blueprints in where they originate from in the cosmos. The bioenergy lab will study the various auric fields, psychic abilities, brain patterns, and the genetic DNA structures of species to see where their evolutionary paths might take them.

Sometimes hybrid children with mixed DNA are born and the research the bioenergy lab does helps the hybrid children to better acclimate to their new surroundings if they move to different parts of the galaxy or to another multiverse.

Music Lab Sirian Habitat

The Sirian music lab allows visitors to learn music at the vibrational frequencies beyond the five senses and normal musical sound ranges.

When playing any of the musical instruments in the lab the person literally gets to see the musical notes as vibrational frequencies. This will help to translate the notes of the music into the proper mood, tone, and feelings that the artist(s) are trying to convey beyond the five known senses using the other three senses in the 12 double stranded DNA to compose high frequency melodies.

The Star Traveler saw human instruments in some of the music labs as there are cultural exchanges that are happening from the various planets including Earth, where students get to come to Nibiru in order to be able to learn about the different species cultures and their ways of life. Nibiru labs can build or replicate through holographic means the Earth type musical instruments for students to play while they are learning.

Sirian Ascension Students

While learning on Nibiru the Star Traveler studied about ascension and how evolutionary frequencies work.

The studying was usually done in groups of four people. These groups would rotate members every couple of days and work on new projects.

During group work the Star Traveler learned how the elements function on different planets, how to read psychic and metaphysical energies, as well as how to transmute and change the etheric energies into the various physical manifestations of something, etc. As well the Star Traveler studied how to do body medical scans to determine what ailments someone might have or how to transmute negative energies or thoughts into positive energies in order to be able to do self healing and cleanse the auric fields in the physical body in order to take away pain, disease, stress, etc.

Sacred Geometry Designs

Sorad

Lorum

Narina

Each of the Sirian teacher's on Nibiru who teaches sacred geometry designs to students has a family lineage crystal grid that energetically represents their cosmic and genetic blueprints in the universe.

These energetic crystal grids help to realign the body circuitry matrixes back into alignment so both the etheric and physical aspects of the humanoid species bodies are healthy.

It takes skill, time, and practice to create these family lineage crystal grid designs as they are one of a kind and unique to each of the families. These grids cannot be the same in design, shape, or the crystals as the energies for healing for each of the grids are very distinct and different from each other in how they are created as well as the energetic vibrations that the family lineage grids emit for each specific humanoid species from the various planets.

Sacred Geometry Project

The sacred geometry crystal grids are like the family crests which symbolize where each family on Nibiru comes from in terms of planets, species, dimensional levels, etc.

These crystal grids are almost eternal in that they exist practically forever as they are archived in the holographic records of the Nibiru libraries. The holographic records are backed up on multiple electronic storage devices so the historical information about the family lineages and the energetic vibrational frequencies emitted by the crystal grids cannot be easily destroyed throughout time.

The information about the family crystal grids is passed down to each new generation that is born into the families so these energetic teachings and traditions are never lost in the family lineages and histories.
